

The Entity Year-End reports provide a list of final values by property type. The general property types include real, personal and centrally assessed. Within real property are primary and secondary residential, commercial and industrial and agricultural. Personal property includes mobile primary, mobile secondary and business. Age-Based and Fee-in-Lieu properties are treated as separated categories. Centrally Assessed companies are not broken into any detailed categories. For detailed definitions and explanations of these property types see the "Property Tax Administrative Guide"

. This summary report is an excellent resource for those who want to get a quick overview of the affects of property trends and cycles within a taxing entity.
